Marcus Geiss is an associate in the Munich office of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher.

He specializes in M&A and other corporate transactions, national and complex cross-border restructuring work, as well as general commercial and corporate law. Marcus also advises international clients on financing issues of all types and has a strong background and in-depth experience in insolvency law. His financing expertise has a specific focus on leveraged buy-outs, national and international groups financings, syndicated loan transactions and other forms of debt financing.

Before joining Gibson Dunn as an attorney, Marcus was a research assistant at the University of Freiburg. He combined his teaching duties with an academic focus on state aid and European competition and company law. He has translated both contemporary fiction and academic legal literature from English into German and vice versa.

In addition to his native German, Marcus is fluent in English and has advanced knowledge of French.
