New York

Christopher Rosina is Of Counsel in the New York office of Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher, where he is a core member of the Privacy, Cybersecurity and Data Innovation and Artificial Intelligence practices. Chris advises clients on all aspects of privacy and cybersecurity, including product counseling, compliance, advocacy, policy issues, and regulatory response in a dynamic legal landscape.

Before joining Gibson Dunn, he worked as a senior member of Apple's legal team, where he was the principal architect of Apple's global privacy compliance program, including in preparation for GDPR and CCPA, and served as the primary counsel to Apple's Data Protection Officer. In this capacity, Chris provided strategic counsel across Apple's business units, relating to almost all of Apple's products and services, in addition to managing global regulatory responses and filings. In addition to his role advising Apple's consumer-facing business, he provided extensive guidance to the company's internal teams on matters related to corporate infrastructure and employee privacy.

Prior to his work at Apple, Chris was Global Privacy and Security Counsel at Hewlett Packard Enterprise, where he served as the legal department's principal adviser on privacy and cybersecurity issues and led development of the company's privacy compliance programs.
