

Susy Bullock Rejoins Gibson Dunn as a Disputes Partner in London

Firm News | June 1, 2020

Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher LLP is pleased to announce that Susy Bullock has rejoined the firm's London office as a partner. Bullock, formerly a Managing Director and Head of EMEA Litigation at UBS, will focus on helping clients, particularly those in the financial services sector, navigate a wide range of disputes and business and human rights issues.

"We're excited to welcome Susy back to Gibson Dunn," said Ken Doran, Chairman and Managing Partner of Gibson Dunn. "Susy is a highly regarded lawyer whose mix of private and in-house experience will prove invaluable for clients facing complex, high-stakes challenges."

"We're very pleased that Susy is returning to our London team," said James Cox, Co-Partner-in-Charge of the London Office. "She was an outstanding associate during her time with us, and her success in-house is a reflection of her technical excellence, strong personality and natural leadership qualities."

"I'm thrilled to be back at Gibson Dunn," said Bullock. "I was privileged to work with a fantastic legal team and business partners during my time at UBS, as well as corporate social responsibility colleagues across the banking sector. I look forward to using my in-house experience to support clients as they deal with commercial disputes and address corporate social responsibility and sustainability issues."

About Susy Bullock

Before returning to Gibson Dunn as a partner, Bullock spent nearly six years at UBS from 2013 to 2019, beginning with a one-year secondment from the firm. During her tenure at UBS, she served as Head of EMEA Litigation October 2017 to June 2019 and rose to the position of Managing Director. She was an associate at Gibson Dunn from 2009 to 2014.

Bullock gained a First Class law degree from the University of Cambridge in 2004.
